

HOME

SEARCH

Buy Reprints from the NYT Store

INDEX

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1929 PAGE 60 OF 202

S. SUNDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1929.

REMARQUE TO FLEE SPOTLIGHT'S GLARE

German War Novel Author Would Like to Come Here, but Fears Invitations to Lecture.

CHAINED TO BOOK, HE SAYS

Written to Face Him From Past, It Has Revived Old Horrors Too Vividly, Writer Asserts.

By WYTHE WILLIAMS.

Special Guide to The New York Times.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Erich Maria Remarque, author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," as a result of too much notoriety, has announced his intention of following the example of Alain Gerbault and disappearing into the unknown.

Souvenir hunters have even taken the name-plate off of my front door," he asserted today. "So, my plan now—I have not yet talked about it to any one—is that in a few days I intend to leave Berlin. I cannot work here. I am not left alone for a single minute. I really want to disappear altogether—change my name, let my beard grow, start a new life and possibly never write again.

"Why should one write books if he has no longing to do so? One cannot get such feeling on command, as a mere profession.

"I want once more the experience and happiness of cutting stick puppets that everybody has given up, or spend all my thoughts twisting the possibilities of the automobile."

The author smiled wistfully and pessimistically as he regarded a small aquarium between his library windows, containing an exotic brightly-colored fish.

Another Book Planned.

His subsequent remarks, however, dispelled the idea that he might not continue writing, for he said:

"In my next book, which I am now writing, I describe the way back to life, how a young man like myself—and Paul Baeumer—experienced war as a youth, who still carries its scars and who was then grabbed up by the chaos of the post-war period, finally finds his way into life's harmonies."

The author then told of his trouble in selling "All Quiet on the Western Front." He said:

You must not think I made a fortune with that book. I made all my contracts as an unknown man. When writing the book I may have experienced something inspirational—a sort of demonical ecstasy—but that I tried to sell it was quite natural. The first publisher to whom I offered it kept it a long time. Then I accepted an offer from the Wus-sische Zeitung, but they, too, hesitated. They found the manuscript had too little action and suspense for a newspaper. So they held our manuscript ready for us if their public failed to show interest.

"*

Believes He Cannot Lecture.

"If I were to accept offers now for lectures I would get much more than from all the editions and translations. But I cannot lecture. Anyhow, I have enough for a few years. Meanwhile I hope to turn out something else.

"I have nothing to do with the filing of the book. Mr. Lammert, who by the way, is a quite remarkable person, wanted me to write the scenario, also to play Paul Baeumer myself. But in spite of his splendid offer I refused. I want to occupy myself with new things.

"I will not even know who will be his leading actor. I would like to visit America when the production is decided. I would like to see all of America, but then I might be called on to make speeches.

"I do not feel like a writer. At present I have only one thought, and that is to get away from everything. I wrote "All Quiet" in order to free myself from something I felt as pressure, as letters. And now everything is coming up again like a ghost phantom and faces me with every step I take up the road again. I write a book, which I think will become famous. Now I want to gather something new for a book which shall have a value in itself, unfavored by name and publicity. But it seems I never shall be allowed to be myself again.

"I have been appointed, it seems, as administrator of my first book for life. At present I am a prisoner, but soon I shall find a way out. As for "All Quiet," I know perfectly well that any one of us could just as well have written it. I had no doctrine to teach. I only wanted to tell what we encountered, how one idea of life were ruined by reality.

"Hermannlos, the corporal in the book, is not a figure of fancy. He really existed and was far worse than described. He is still alive and performing his job of postman.

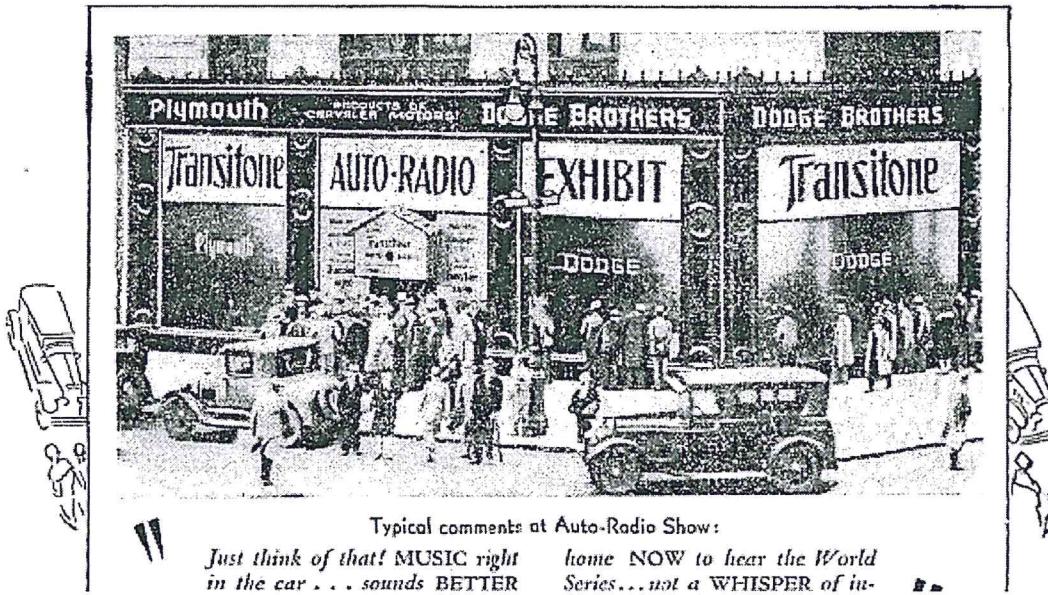

"I am reprimanded for showing a lack of soldierly spirit—for being a civilian." But that is just what we were, after all, even if we did not wear uniforms.

"On this point I can refer to the public success the book has had and the letters I have received from thousands who felt like myself. One letter, which alone makes me calm against such attacks, is from a man who lost his sight and who tells me that only through my book was he freed from the paralyzing bitterness of his fate.

"I do not understand anything about politics. I dislike from the bottom of my heart the atmosphere of social life so dominant in Germany. I hope the air elsewhere, where I expect soon to go, will be purer."

Company to Exploit Gold Fields.
SYDNEY Oct. 10.—A company capitalized at $25,000,000 has been formed here to exploit new gold fields in New Guinea. Among other measures, a railway is projected from the port of Salamaua to the mountains and thousands of laborers are being recruited for the work.

CROWDS WELCOME "RADIO-IN-AUTOMOBILES" AT DODGE-TRANSITONE EXHIBIT

Typical comments at Auto-Radio Show:

Just think of that! MUSIC right home NOW to hear the World in the car . . . sounds BETTER Series...not a WHISPER of in-

© 2020 The New York Times Company | Terms of Service | Privacy | Help | Feedback | TimesMachine Home | IP: 131.173.63.205

D-A 2.1.009 / 003

HOMESEARCH

Buy Reprints from the NYT Store

INDEX      SUNDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1929 PAGE 60 OF 202

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1929.

REMARQUE TO FLEE SPOTLIGHTS GLARE

German War Novel Author Would Like to Come Here, but Fears Invitations to Lecture.

CHAINED TO BOOK, HE SAYS

Writes to Free Him From Past, If He Revived Old Horrors Too

Vividly, Writer Asserts,

For WYTHE WILLIAMS,
General Guide to True War-Tragedy, Oct. 10.—Erich Maria Remarque, author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," as a result of his recent notoriety, has announced that he cannot or following the example of Main Gerhardt and disappearing into the unknown.

led.
Souvenir hunters have even taken the name-plate off of my front door," he asserted today. "Also, my plan now—I have not yet talked about it to any one—is that in a few days I intend to leave Berlin. I cannot work here. I am not left alone for a single minute. I really want to disappear altogether—change address.

prices

as a

Inter-

restion by and happiness of being a sick person that everybody has given up, or spend all my thoughts treating the possibility of the automobile. I have been invited to lecture in Scandinavia, but I would not be a fool, for I could only talk about myself, automobiles and fish."

"The author smiled wanly and pessimistically as he regarded a small aquarium containing an exotic brightly colored fish.

Another Book Planned.

His subsequent remarks, however, dispelled the idea that he might not continue writing, for he said: "To say 'never more,' when I am now writing, I describe the way back to life, how a young man like myself—and Paul Baumer—experienced war as a youth, who still carries his scars and who wants then written up by the claws of the post-war period, finally finds his way into life's phenomena."

The author, told of his troubles in selling "All Quiet on the Western Front," he said: "You must not think I made a fortune with that book. I made all my contacts an unknown man. When writing the book I may have experienced something inspirational which shall have a value in itself, but I tried to sell it was quite natural. The first publisher to whom I offered it kept it a long time. Then my name, let me hear grow, start again.

"Why should one write books if he has no longing to do so? One can't get such feeling on command, as in

Believes He Cannot Lecture.

"It were to accept offers now for lectures I would get much more than I want, all the editions and translations. But I cannot lecture. Anything else.

"I have nothing to do with the filming of the book. Mr. Lautner, when, by the way, is a quite agreeable person, wanted me to write the scenario, also to play Paul Baumer myself. But in spite of his splendid offer I refused. I want to occupy myself with new things.

"I will not even know who will be his leading actor. I would like to go to America when the production is made. I would like to see all of America, but then I might be called on to make speeches.

"I do not feel like a writer. At present I have only one thought, and that is to get away from everything that is too close to me.

"I wrote 'All Quiet' in order to free myself from something. I felt that only through my book will be freed from the prevailing bitterness of his fate.

"I do not understand anything about politics. I dislike freedom of speech, but my heart is German. I hope the air elsewhere, where I expect soon to go, will be purer."

On this point I can refer to the public signature the book had at the letters I have received from thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being rebuked. But that is just what wear uniforms.

"On this point I can refer to the public signature the book had at the letters I have received from thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being rebuked. But that is just what we did have to

say.

Administrator of my first

for life. At present I am a man, but soon I shall find a

As for 'All Quiet,' I know

other manuscripts ready for use if

just as well have written it.

no doctrine to teach. I only wanted to tell what we encountered, how

our ideas of life were ruined by reality.

"Unmerciful, the corporal in the bank, is not a figure of fancy. I really existed and was far wor-

than described. He is still alive and performed his job of postman.

"I am reproached for showing

spirit of soldierly spirit—for being

rebel.

But that is just what

we did have to

say.

On this point I can refer to the public signature the book had at the letters I have received from thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being rebuked. But that is just what

we did have to

say.

Administrator of my first

for life. At present I am a man, but soon I shall find a

As for 'All Quiet,' I know

other manuscripts ready for use if

just as well have written it.

no doctrine to teach. I only wanted

to tell what we encountered, how

our ideas of life were ruined by

reality.

"Unmerciful, the corporal in the bank, is not a figure of fancy. I

really existed and was far wor-

than described. He is still alive and

performed his job of postman.

"I am reproached for showing

spirit of soldierly spirit—for being

rebel.

But that is just what

we did have to

say.

On this point I can refer to the

public signature the book had at

the letters I have received from

thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being

rebuked. But that is just what

we did have to

say.

Administrator of my first

for life. At present I am a man, but soon I shall find a

As for 'All Quiet,' I know

other manuscripts ready for use if

just as well have written it.

no doctrine to teach. I only wanted

to tell what we encountered, how

our ideas of life were ruined by

reality.

"Unmerciful, the corporal in the bank, is not a figure of fancy. I

really existed and was far wor-

than described. He is still alive and

performed his job of postman.

"I am reproached for showing

spirit of soldierly spirit—for being

rebel.

But that is just what

we did have to

say.

On this point I can refer to the

public signature the book had at

the letters I have received from

thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being

rebuked. But that is just what

we did have to

say.

Administrator of my first

for life. At present I am a man, but soon I shall find a

As for 'All Quiet,' I know

other manuscripts ready for use if

just as well have written it.

no doctrine to teach. I only wanted

to tell what we encountered, how

our ideas of life were ruined by

reality.

"Unmerciful, the corporal in the bank, is not a figure of fancy. I

really existed and was far wor-

than described. He is still alive and

performed his job of postman.

"I am reproached for showing

spirit of soldierly spirit—for being

rebel.

But that is just what

we did have to

say.

On this point I can refer to the

public signature the book had at

the letters I have received from

thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being

rebuked. But that is just what

we did have to

say.

Administrator of my first

for life. At present I am a man, but soon I shall find a

As for 'All Quiet,' I know

other manuscripts ready for use if

just as well have written it.

no doctrine to teach. I only wanted

to tell what we encountered, how

our ideas of life were ruined by

reality.

"Unmerciful, the corporal in the bank, is not a figure of fancy. I

really existed and was far wor-

than described. He is still alive and

performed his job of postman.

"I am reproached for showing

spirit of soldierly spirit—for being

rebel.

But that is just what

we did have to

say.

On this point I can refer to the

public signature the book had at

the letters I have received from

thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being

rebuked. But that is just what

we did have to

say.

Administrator of my first

for life. At present I am a man, but soon I shall find a

As for 'All Quiet,' I know

other manuscripts ready for use if

just as well have written it.

no doctrine to teach. I only wanted

to tell what we encountered, how

our ideas of life were ruined by

reality.

"Unmerciful, the corporal in the bank, is not a figure of fancy. I

really existed and was far wor-

than described. He is still alive and

performed his job of postman.

"I am reproached for showing

spirit of soldierly spirit—for being

rebel.

But that is just what

we did have to

say.

On this point I can refer to the

public signature the book had at

the letters I have received from

thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being

rebuked. But that is just what

we did have to

say.

Administrator of my first

for life. At present I am a man, but soon I shall find a

As for 'All Quiet,' I know

other manuscripts ready for use if

just as well have written it.

no doctrine to teach. I only wanted

to tell what we encountered, how

our ideas of life were ruined by

reality.

"Unmerciful, the corporal in the bank, is not a figure of fancy. I

really existed and was far wor-

than described. He is still alive and

performed his job of postman.

"I am reproached for showing

spirit of soldierly spirit—for being

rebel.

But that is just what

we did have to

say.

On this point I can refer to the

public signature the book had at

the letters I have received from

thousands who feel like myself. On behalf of soldiers—spirit—for being

rebuked. But that is just what

we did have to

say.

Administrator of my first

for life. At present I am a man, but soon I shall find a

As for 'All Quiet,' I know

other manuscripts ready for use if

just as well have written it.

no doctrine to teach. I only wanted

to tell what we encountered, how

our ideas of life were ruined by

reality.

"Unmerciful, the corporal in the bank, is not a figure of fancy. I

really existed and was far wor-

than described. He is still alive and performed his job of postman.